Dear Hand Bell Ringers

My name is Russell; I belong to the Maghull hand bell ringers group in the North West.

Since my retirement I have begun arranging music for hand bells, and now have a considerable amount of music on the HRGB website. It covers a broad ability level and bell range. I hope that there is something for everyone, and something you may be interested in playing.

If, by return e-mail, you could give me an indication of the range of bells you have and perhaps what you consider to be the group's ability level, I would be delighted to send you a complimentary piece of music, free of charge. Please have a look at the HRGB site and choose a piece you like and let me know, and I will e-mail the music to you with a licence for the number of players in your group!

You can see the score of any piece of music on the website by clicking on the appropriate link, and you can follow the score as the music is played. Click below for RpB Music -

If you later purchase a piece of music from the site a percentage of the profit goes to HRGB, the rest goes towards production costs, so support your society.

Happy ringing.
